ABOUT US.

ORGANIC AT LIPSA

Lipidos Santiga (LIPSA) is a company with over 50 years of experience in the refining of vegetable oils and fats. From our plant in Barcelona we currently serve customers across the globe, complying with the strictest regulations and specifications.

With consumers today demanding healthier, more natural and sustainable products, LIPSA decided in 2018 to go one step further and get the certification as organic (ecologic) producer. LIPSA is devoted to drive the change towards an organic food production for all our clients and believes firmly that a more sustainable future is possible.

This is why our team of professionals is qualified and trained to help our customers and assist them from product development to logistical management across the globe, providing a flexibility that is unique in the market.

WHY ORGANIC?

In order to have organic production you have to combine the best environmental practices, the preservation of natural resources and the application of high animal welfare standards. Therefore, organic production means a sustainable agricultural system that is more respectful with environment than standard practices.

KEY PRINCIPLES:

- 🌿 No genetically modified organisms (GMOs).
- 🌿 Crop rotation for an efficient use of resources.
- 🌿 No chemical pesticides or synthetic fertilizers.
- 🌿 Animal welfare, with up to 50% more wild life on organic farms.
- 🌿 Artificial-free hydrogenated fats and controversial artificial food colours are banned under organic standards.
- 🌿 Better consumer perception*.

*72% of consumers think that organic food is of better quality according to: EPRS, Eurostat, Eurobarometer, FiBL.

OUR CERTIFICATES:
